

Moranbah tickets go on sale

TICKETS are on sale from today for the Moranbah 4U2 Family Concert on September 13.

Moranbah's 4U2 Family Concert was founded by the Hornery family in 2013 as a way for the Bowen Basin town to come together for charity.

The concert is a not-for-profit event supporting RACQ-CQ Rescue and cancer care services through the Royal Brisbane Women's Hospital Foundation.

"We expect well over 2000 people to come through the gates," Hornery Group event organiser Dianna Smith said.

"We're striving to outdo last year's fundraising efforts of donating a total of over $60,000 to two very worthy charities.

"It's truly wonderful to see the community come together and participate in a family day out which caters for all ages."

The event will have a licensed bar and a variety of food available for purchase.

There will be plenty of rides and fun for the kids and Melbourne freestyle footballer Tommy So will host demonstrations and soccer coaching clinics for the young and not so young.

In addition to all the fun and, most importantly, the music, it's a chance for the public to get up close to the RACQ-CQ Rescue helicopter and talk with the rescue crew about their important work.

The Pink Trucks will also be on display and the RACQ Mobile Member Centre will make a special visit, travelling all the way from Brisbane.
